

Stacey L. Biggins, Consultant, has fifteen years of experience in technical writing, editing, and proposal writing. Ms. Biggins started her career with The Sheridan Press, a publishing company that concentrated on medical journals, editing articles, doing graphic design, and preparing journal content for display on the Internet. She also has worked as a technical writer for Bucharth-Horn, Inc., has been a reporter for newspapers chains including the Associated Press.

Since joining OPEN MINDS in 1999, Ms. Biggins has worked with customers in a number of roles. She has been the editor of OPEN MINDS' monthly management newsletter. She has also managed the weekly On-Line News and daily RFP Hotline services. She participated on the OPEN MINDS survey teams compiling the statistics on managed behavioral health market share; behavioral health industry technology adoption; and behavioral health technology solution vendors. As a consultant, she specializes in industry research, marketing communication

Professional Highlights

- Expertise in market research, technical writing, and proposal writing
- Previously manager of proposals for professional services firm
- Experienced with on-line publishing
- Served as manager of numerous industry survey research initiatives

Areas of Expertise

- Proposal writing
- Technical writing and Editing
- Market research and statistical analysis
- Marketing communications

materials, and proposal development. She received her Bachelors degree in English, with a professional writing specialization from Waynesburg College, in Waynesburg, Pennsylvania.